McAuliffe to Become Full-Time Justice

Judge Edward I. McAuliffe of the Third Township will become the first full-time justice of the peace in the county on July 1 when a move that will facilitate handling of justice court matters becomes effective.

An ordinance passed by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Tuesday places the judgeship on a full-time basis with a yearly salary of $7200.

McAuliffe, whose part-time salary is now $5000 yearly, told the supervisors he would resign as Redwood City police judge on July 1.

Increased amount of court business makes it impossible for him to continue in both posts, he said.

Declaring he could "justify the full-time existence," McAuliffe explained persons cited or charged could request appearance in the justice court in the county seat, thus eliminating trips to distant township courts.

Posting of bail or bond, which must be done in the presence of a justice, will also be facilitated if the matter can be done across the street from the jail, he added.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Daniel Sullivan reported the proposal had the recommendation of the district attorney's office, and McAuliffe explained the sheriff's office and court reporters would also be benefited by the proposal.

McAuliffe's resignation from the police judgeship will leave City Mgr. E. W. Elom with the appointive power to nominate a successor. The part-time city judgeship carries a salary of $2640 a year.

McAuliffe became justice of the peace in 1927, and two years later was named police judge when the Redwood City Charter went into effect.

In other matters considered by the supervisors at their regular meeting Tuesday, the board refused action on two requests from County Executive Frederick Peterson for additional advertising funds.

Winfield Scott, secretary of the San Mateo County Civic League, challenged the requests that totaled $2000.

"I think even if you adopt this request it is desirable to ask where all the money has gone. Is there any way to earmark these expenditures?"

The board replied no.

"He (Peterson) knows as much about advertising as I do about the middle of China," Scott commented.

Peterson was asked to state proposed use of the money in writing, after a message from the executive suggested $500 for the county fiesta and $500 for the state fair.

Action on the proposed closing of Bear Gulch Rd. in Woodside was delayed another two weeks after E. F. Arata of 561 Hudson St., Redwood City, opponent of the closing, said he would notify those interested to appear at the next supervisors' meeting.

Protests in letter form were considered by the Folger Estate, Merwyn McArthur, 46 Hudson St., Redwood City, George T. Arata and the Woodside Fire Dist. commissioners.

Civil Service Wage Scales Adjusted

San Mateo County Civil Service Commissioners will tour county facilities on Apr. 12 to determine recommended prices charged county employees for maintenance. Announcement of the tour was made following an adjourned session of the commission Monday when additional requests for salary adjustments were considered.

The commission, which has been hearing protests and requests for adjustment in connection with preparation of the 1946-47 salary ordinance, will again meet on Apr. 8 to further consider proposed salary ranges.

During Monday's meeting, the commission:

1. Established the class of assistant forestry maintenance man with salary range of $170-$213.
2. Increased present folio rate paid to copyists in the recorder's office from 7½ cents a folio to 8½ cents a folio. The commission denied copyist's requests for a $20 bonus, 15 per cent wage increase, and addition of comparators to proof read work.
3. Established a $201-$252 salary range for the anesthetist at Community Hospital.
4. Increased surgical nurse scale to $201-$252.
5. Denied requests from the sanitarians and chief sanitarian for an additional step increase within the new proposed salary range.
6. Approved increase in the proposed range of assistant building inspector to $266-$332 upon recommendation of A. W. Russell, building inspector.

Richard Beichert Wins Navy Promotion

Richard J. Beichert, of 556 Fourth Ave., has been promoted to seaman first class, it was announced today in Pearl Harbor by the navy staging center there.

Beichert is expected to return to the United States soon as the Pearl Harbor staging center receives highpoint veterans and places them in groups bound for separation centers on the mainland.

Newspapers Back Hospital Proposal

Members of the Sequoia Dist. Hospital Committee last night were assured of support from the majority of newspapers published in the district.

Mrs. Henry Beeger, committee chairman, announced that the county clerk has certified 3334 of the 5000 signatures submitted to the board of supervisors requesting that a hospital district be formed.

City Councilman Chester Armstrong said in his opinion the board of supervisors would probably call a public hearing in May and set an election for mid-June. At best, he predicted, it would be a year and a half before the district could complete its plans, acquire a site, vote a bond issue and build a hospital. Meanwhile, a critical shortage in hospital facilities in all probability will develop, he warned.

Editors present were Miss Elmer Cogswell of the Palo Alto Times, Lester Lafferty of the San Carlos Enquirer, Mrs. Dolly Dixon of the Courier-Bulletin, Kenneth L. Bowen of the Star-Advertiser and Ray Spangler, Tribune.

Dibble Sets First Open House Since Dedication in 1944

For the first time since its dedication on Mar. 2, 1944, Dibble General Hospital, the army's blind and plastic surgery center located on Timothy Hopkins estate in Menlo Park, will play host to the public at an open house in observance of Army Day on Saturday.

Col. Paul H. Streit, MC, Dibble's commanding officer, and the hospital staff have planned a full program for the day, highlights of which will be two radio broadcasts to be aired over major San Francisco networks, one show featuring an original Army Day script written by Sgt. Richard Degner of Dibble's Special Services office.

Visitors to the hospital will be conducted through the installation and explained various points of interest by hospital personnel serving as guides from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 1 to 3 p. m.

Special exhibits are being planned in many of the hospital's departments, among them occupational therapy, post library, and medical arts. In addition, guests will be presented with small pamphlets describing in full the work done at Dibble in restoring the war-wounded to health.

"We welcome this opportunity to personally greet our many friends and to express our appreciation for the many fine contributions made to the hospital by individuals, organizations, and the press during the two years since our dedication."

Leonard Ready to Wage War On County's Rat Population

Max J. Leonard, San Mateo County agriculture commissioner, today backed plans by county and city health officers to kill as many as possible of the 45,000 rats which now inhabit Redwood City.

Leonard said that ground squirrels on the outskirts of Redwood City have on three occasions gone through bubonic plague epidemics. He said that health officials have warned that it is possible for fleas, lice and ticks on the squirrels to transmit the disease to rats. From there, he continued, it is but a short trip to humans.

So far, however, there is no record of this happening. As far as can be determined, he said, there is no record of the fleas passing from squirrels to rats.

This has puzzled health officials who are, of course, happy that it hasn't happened.

In San Mateo County, Leonard said, the disease has only been found among wildlife rodents.

In going back over the history of the situation, Leonard said that there have been three outbreaks of bubonic plague among county ground squirrels. One was during the 1917-1918 war and at that time the U. S. health service aided the county in killing as many squirrels as could be found. The second outbreak was in 1932 in the southern portions of the county. At that time another drive was organized to kill

Red Cross Drive Nears 1946 Quota

Incomplete reports from district solicitors in the 1946 Red Cross War Fund Drive place total to date at $31,500, Chmn. Philip S. Maslin said today.

The total collected is $6000 short of the quota set for Redwood City, Menlo Park-Atherton and Woodside areas, he said.

Workers will continue their canvass in an attempt to complete the quota within the next few days, Maslin added. Late contributors may still send money to the chapter office on Broadway at Jefferson Ave.

He explained Woodside was the only area to turn in the equivalent of last year's quota.

Trustees Ask Surveys To Determine Needs For Sequoia District

With nearly 50 public-spirited citizens sitting in on the session, the Sequoia High School trustees in a special meeting Tuesday unanimously passed two resolutions as first steps toward improving the present instructional setup.

The resolutions were:

1. That a comprehensive survey of the school district be made, and that as preparation for that survey, information be obtained from several different universities on the scope and cost of such a survey and recommendations on the people qualified to make it.

2. That the California Taxpayers' Assn. be invited to make a survey of the efficiency and utilization of Sequoia High School itself.

The first resolution, introduced by Board Member Walter W. Hilton, appeared to meet with instant approval from those present.

The trustees agreed that before any more proposals for bond issues are presented to the public, a concrete analysis by competent authorities of the needs of the school district must be made.

Although the proposal to call in the California Taxpayers' Assn. for a survey at first met with some opposition on the grounds that it was strictly an efficiency-measuring organization and not qualified to measure the needs of a school, the opposition, subsided.

The trustees indicated they will limit the scope of the CTA survey to measuring only the utilization of the present physical properties of the high school plant. Problems of the curriculum, which will be studied in the school district survey, will not enter into the survey by the CTA, Trustee Merritt Hosmer explained.

The board's administrative officer, Dist. Supt. A. C. Argo, reported that a comprehensive survey is an extensive, fact-probing affair. Argo reported that such a survey involves 15 separate surveys.

The minor surveys involve studies of the broad outlines of school policy, including the community's educational needs; of the facts about the schools as they exist; of the administrative organization; of the financial and business management; of the buildings and building program; of the instructional staff; of the record and reports; of the curriculum; of the adult continuing education; of the system of marking; of the system of supervision; of the health program; and finally, of the adult continuing education study program, Argo said.

Chmn. Charles Merrill announced that the purpose of the meeting was to consider the building needs of the Sequoia district when he called the session to order.

Referring to his opening remarks as a resume, Merrill pointed out that the growth of the state threatens to surpass the educational accommodations.

"From seventh place in 1940 to third place in 1946 among the various states," Merrill said, "California's population increase has by no means abated." He added that in the coming years, the Peninsula will attract many of the state's new residents and that to prepare the school system now before the great influx is a matter of foresight.

Board Member Hosmer, who introduced the resolution calling for the CTA survey, pointed out that the association survey would be made free of charge in the interest of public economy.

The meeting was held in the Sequoia High School Library and Business Mgr. Humphrey Lynch acted as the board's secretary.

Thief Loots Three Offices, R.C. School

Redwood City and San Carlos police this week were searching for a thief who broke into three offices in Redwood City, three desks at Sequoia Union High School, and attempted to break into a beauty parlor in San Carlos over the weekend. Total loot — less than $50.

Police Lt. S. D. Wood in Redwood City said the thief may be the man who last weekend obtained approximately $1500 in 21 north San Mateo County break-ins.

The three office break-ins were at the Stafford Bldg., 2385 Broadway. At the office of the Merchants Assn., police said, between $35 and $50 was taken. Nothing was taken from the office of Joseph J. Bullock, an attorney, nor at the joint offices maintained by Atty. George Larrouy and Jerome Macdonald. Entry was made, police said, by means of a thin screwdriver with which doors were forced.

At Sequoia, Supt. A. C. Argo said two desks in the attendant's office were broken into and one in the counseling office. From the attendant's desk $7 was taken. Argo said this sum was part of a student loan fund for which money is obtained by the sale of unclaimed lost articles. Argo said the thief jimmied a door in the main office to gain entry, but that it was not known how entry into the building itself was made.

Police Chief Edward J. Wheeler in San Carlos said that Sunday at 11:30 a.m., Edward Jones, a janitor, came upon a man who is believed to be the thief. Jones was climbing the stairs leading to the Looking Glass Beauty Parlor, 1148 San Carlos Ave., when he was passed by a man coming down stairs. The man told Jones, "Apparently they aren't open today," and continued downstairs and away. Jones found that an attempt had been made to jimmy the beauty shop door and called police. He said the man was between 30 and 40 years old, approximately 5 feet, 10 inches tall, wore a dark overcoat and suit and had dark, unkempt hair.

Last weekend in a wave of north county break-ins, two homes were burglarized in Millbrae and 16 attempts were made in San Mateo, as well as three in Burlingame. Most of the approximately $1500 taken was obtained from one Millbrae home, where jewelry was lifted.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Member of San Mateo County Community Chest

Members of the Knights of Dunamis, honorary Eagle Scout troop, will climax the program of the Victory Roundup to be staged by the San Mateo County Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the San Mateo City Park ball grounds April 13 by exemplifying the ritual attending the awarding of the Eagle Scout rank to Dee Catterell of Troop 159, Woodside.

John Wrenthorn of Troop 153, San Carlos, is commander of the local chapter of the fraternity and will be in charge of the ceremonies, which will be staged against a colorful background of Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Senior Scouts assembled in full-dress formation, flanked by the massed colors of all units.

The Knights of Dunamis, all of whom are Eagle Scouts, will form a guard of honor for the candidate with members of the armed forces as special guests, being in a position of honor on the platform.

The ceremony of conferring the Eagle Scout rank, the highest award in scouting, will close the program of the Victory Roundup, which will feature the entire scout family—cubs, scouts and the three branches of the Senior Scout program in a review of the activities of these groups.

The program is under the direction of Barney C. Williams, scoutmaster and explorer scout leader, assisted by members of council and district staffs as well as the individual unit leaders.

County Death Toll Climbs to 23 As Two Youths Die in Accidents

San Mateo County's traffic toll rose to 23 for the year today following the death of a 3 1/2-year-old Oakland boy who fell from a car on the San Mateo County side of the San Mateo-Hayward Bridge over the weekend and the death of another youth who was injured Friday. Killed when he fell from the automobile driven by his father, Albert Bracey, Jr., 4619 Alvin Rd., Oakland, was William Bracey III, 3 1/2. The accident occurred Saturday at 7 p.m., three-tenths of a mile east of the bridge toll plaza. Bracey was driving west.

Succumbing Saturday afternoon to injuries suffered Friday morning in a truck-car collision on Bayshore Hwy. at the Mills Field entrance was Jerry Perrotti, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perrotti, 2263-17th Ave., San Francisco. He died of a skull fracture at Franklin Hospital, San Francisco.

The Bracey boy, who was riding in the back seat of the car with a friend of the family, Mrs. Harriet Kodis, 60, 47 Virginia St., Oakland, stood up and leaned against the right rear door. The door sprang open and young William toppled to the bridge's pavement, landing on his head. He was dead on arrival at Mills Memorial Hospital in San Mateo.

Bracey was driving approximately 55 miles an hour when the boy fell from the car, the California Highway Patrol reported. The boy's mother was riding in the front seat with her husband.

Edgar L. Epperson, 26, of Santa Cruz, Pacific Greyhound bus driver, suffered slight injuries at 7 o'clock Sunday night when the bus he was driving, crashed into the rear end of a car driven by Kirk V. Baloun, 27, 201 East Bellevue Ave., San Mateo, who had stopped his car to permit a woman in front of him to make a left turn. The accident occurred on Bayshore Hwy. at the San Bruno Rd. intersection, the CHP reported.

A Redwood City man suffered minor injuries last night when his car collided with one in which three boys had turned a spotlight on him.

According to the CHP, Stanford P. Herzbrun, 28, 303 Redwood Ave., was parked off Mountain Home Rd. south of Woodside with a girl friend whose name was not given, and a car containing the three boys turned a spotlight on Herzbrun's parked car.

Herzbrun turned his car around and chased the boys five miles, going north on Mountain Home Rd., when the boys turned into a private estate but missed a bridge, crashed through a fence and shrubbery and went down a 75-foot embankment. Herzbrun, with spotlight in his eyes as the boys were trying to blind him, followed them and piled into their car in the ditch, according to the CHP.

Jack Easton, 26 Lowell St., whose age was not given, was in the back seat and held the spotlight, the CHP reported. He was charged with illegal use of the spotlight. The other two youths, against whom no charges were placed, also were from Redwood City. Patrolmen Walter F. Swope Jr. and Frank Chevalier investigated.

Begin Draft On Building Bond Issue

A bond issue, that probably will top the $1,000,000 mark, moved closer to voter consideration Tuesday afternoon when San Mateo County supervisors, meeting in caucus, discussed plans to finance the county's postwar building program.

Instructing Dist. Atty. Gilbert D. Ferrell and County Clerk William H. Augustus to begin drafting a bond issue proposal that would go on September ballots, the supervisors reiterated a "priority" list that excluded enlarging the present courthouse site.

Number one project is the juvenile home, which must move from its present site on Broadway recently sold to a Redwood City syndicate.

Other projects in order included a relief home addition, a wing to the Community Hospital, construction of a laundry at Community Hospital to handle all county laundry, improvements at Canyon Sanatorium, a health and welfare department center at San Mateo, alterations and additions to the county jail, and erection of five war memorial buildings during the first year of the undertaking.

Discussion of the postwar projects took place in line with preparation of the capital outlay portion of the 1946-47 county budget.

The bond issue, which is estimated to range between one and two million dollars, will be principal means of financing the postwar projects for which costs have been only generally stipulated.

Other sources of income will include money on hand; approximately $190,000 from sale of the juvenile home and from money already allocated by the county. Money totaling $648,579 from the state's $90,000,000 fund has been allocated to the county on a matching basis.

Several weeks ago, supervisors discussed enlargement of present facilities at the courthouse, and at that time suggested possibility of a $2,000,000 bond issue to acquire additional land and construct new buildings.

Moving of the health and welfare department to the sixth-listed health center in San Mateo will, however, somewhat alleviate need for additional room at the Redwood City site, it was pointed out.

Library Receives Additional Books

The following books were added to the shelves of the Redwood City Public Library this week, according to Wilhelmina Harper, librarian:

Drago; "The King's General," by Daphne Du Maurier; "County Doctor," by Peggy Gaddis; "Udd Rankin's Daughter," by Susan Gaspell; "Wildwood," by Josephine Johnson; "The River Road," by Frances Parkinson Keyes; "Best Short Stories of Jack London," by Jack London; "Mystery in Blue," by Gertrude E. Mallette; "Those Other People," by Mary King O'Donnell; "Arch of Triumph," by Erich Remarque; "The Yellow Room," by Mary Roberts Rinehart; "The Long Road," by Natalie Shipman; "Most Secret," by Nevil Shute; "Brideshead Revisited," by Evelyn Waugh.

Wife Sues Owner Of Nursery Chain

Ellen C. McLellan of Hillsborough Wednesday sued for divorce from Roderick I. McLellan, partner in a chain of nurseries in Northern California.

In a complaint filed with County Clerk William H. Augustus, Mrs. McLellan declared value of community property exceeds $2,000,000. She asks $1000 monthly alimony and a portion of the community property "as the court deems proper."

The charge is extreme cruelty. According to the complaint, the couple was married in Palm Springs on May 15, 1937, and separated Mar. 29 of this year. Their home was 552 Ravenscourt.

They have no children the complaint declared. McLellan is associated with his brothers, Wakeman and Edgar, in the E. W. McLellan Co., which has a large nursery in Colma.

Jerome Selz Extradition Papers Asked

Extradition papers for Ralph Jerome Von Braun Selz, 37, convicted of a Woodside slaying in 1936, were Tuesday on the way to Calgary, Canada, San Mateo County authorities said.

Selz, who escaped nearly a year ago from Chino Prison Farm, is now in the custody of Royal Canadian Mounted Police who, with Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, discovered the identity of a Canadian army corporal through a routine fingerprint check.

Using the name of R. J. (Tiny) Morgan, Selz fled to Minnesota after making his escape at Chino and later went to Canada.

Selz was branded the "laughing killer" in 1935 when he cheerfully admitted killing Mrs. Ada French Rice, 58-year-old widow, at her Woodside Glens summer cottage.

She was beaten to death with a poker. Her body was later found in a lime-filled grave on Skyline Blvd.

Officials here Monday learned of Selz's capture when a Calgary newspaper called by telephone to learn the background of the crime.

Deputy sheriffs here said he would be returned to San Quentin Prison or to Folsom Prison, and would not be brought to San Mateo County.

Menlo Park's Building Boom Unhindered By U. S. Order Restricting Construction

Following in the wake of the latest government order in restriction of the building industry on the Peninsula, Menlo Park officials look forward to an uninterrupted home-building program, while Atherton officials anticipate a pseudo-war-time cessation.

Menlo Park Bldg. Insp. Max Mielke puts a combined faith in the priority-drawing nature of home building permits he issues in his office, together with ability of high-powered building contractors to secure scarce materials, and says he doesn't look to see building stopped in Menlo Park. "Builders," he says, "will find their way through the maze of red tape."

City Clerk Howard Boren of Atherton, basing his observation on wartime parallels in government building restrictions, forces the possibility of building coming to a complete standstill in the area for which he issues permits.

Boren's figures show that during 37 months of World War II, from April, 1942, through May, 1945—not one home was erected in Atherton under strict wartime regulations. And, with similar regulations being saddled on home building, he looks for the same effect—a lack of new homes in Atherton.

With victory, first in Europe, and then in the Pacific, 44 new homes were issued permits in Atherton, representing a cost of $399,950 during the final seven months of last year. So far this year permits for 34 homes, 17 in March, have represented a value of $605,500.

Menlo Park hit an all-time high during February of this year, when permits were issued for construction to be valued at $396,500 when completed. Included in the total were a new building for the Menlo Theater for $80,000, an additional wing for the Corona Christi Monastery for $130,000 and a new store building for $20,000. The theater and store buildings are now under construction, but no definite date has yet been set for work to begin on the monastery.

Value of other permits issued in Menlo Park during 1946 totalled $178,120 for January and $346,375 for the first 25 days of this month. A grand total of $920,995 for the year, to date, more than doubles last year's total of $449,500. Most of last year's total, however, was amassed during the last five months

Armed Bandit Robs Gas Station

A lone bandit was being sought by Menlo Park police following report of an armed robbery at the Standard Station, El Camino Real and Ravenswood Ave., Saturday night.

Jack Cornelius, 19, of Palo Alto, attendant at the station, told police he was about to close when a bandit lured him to the rear of the station on pretense the men's restroom door was locked.

The robber, identified as about 24-27 years of age, brandished a .38 revolver and threatened Cornelius before placing the gun in a pocket and ordering the attendant to empty a safe.

Cornelius placed approximately $150 in a paper bag as ordered, and returned to the restroom with the stranger, where the latter frisked Cornelius' wallet, police said.

Value of other permits issued in Menlo Park during 1946 totalled $178,120 for January and $346,375 for the first 25 days of this month. A grand total of $920,995 for the year, to date, more than doubles last year's total of $449,500. Most of last year's total, however, was amassed during the last five months
